Former rancher and current associate professor at the University of Montana, Ms. Blunt was asked to craft “Cooking from Scratch” for Wo/Men at Work, a letterpress printed, hand-bound imprint of the Book Arts Program at the Marriott Library. Blunt, whose bestselling memoir Breaking Clean, (Knopf 2002), captured the harsh reality of ranch life in the 1950’s, will read from her essay “Cooking from Scratch.”

Additionally, these three authors will be reading works that appear in a special summer issue of the Western Humanities Review: Matthew Ivan Bennett, Michael Mejia and Andrew Farnsworth.

This event is co-sponsored by the J. Willard Marriott Library, The American West Center, and the Western Humanities Review.

Generous funding provided by The University of Utah's Creative Writing Program, the Vice President for Research, the Tanner Humanities Center and BYU's Redd Center for Western Studies.
